ALEXANDRIA'S RED CROSS FUND STILL GROWING

The Possibility of the Campaign Closing With a Total of $15,000 Looks Promising—Committees Busily at Work Again Today—"Old Tire Melting Pot" Erected on South Washington Street—Ladies and Gentlemen to Tour City Tonight in Automobiles.

The city of Alexandria "went over the top" yesterday afternoon in its campaign to raise $12,000 for the Red Cross, and efforts are still being put forth to make the sum as much larger as possible.

Ladies are at work soliciting on the streets today. Tomorrow the pastors of the various churches are to refer to the subject from their pulpits, collections will be taken and it is requested that the money received be sent to the Chamber of Commerce on Monday.

A committee of men went to the Southern Railway yards this afternoon to solicit among the employees of that road and got $265, and tonight ladies and gentlemen in automobiles will tour the streets of the city. Brief talks will be given and everybody permitted to help swell the fund which, it is hoped, may be brought up to fully $15,000 by Monday.

Mr. A. M. Renschel, of the Renschel Auto Sales Company, last night erected an "Old Tire Melting Pot" on South Washington street, near King; into which every owner of an automobile is asked to place his old worn-out tires and inner tubes. These will be put up at auction and sold to the junk dealer who will give the most for them. The "pot," which is an enclosure built of boards about 12 feet square, began to be filled with old tires this morning and it is hoped that considerable cash may be realized from that source. It was a very happy idea.

Five per cent of their gross sales today will be given by 181 merchants of this city and six more in Alexandria county will do the same.

Among the contributions received is one of $15 from R. H. Lancaster lodge of Odd Fellows (colored), No. 1370, which is greatly appreciated. Another of $100, which was accompanied by the following letter from the C. O.

JOHNSON TESTIFIES

Dentist Blames Over-Study, Sick Mother and Draft.

Richmond, Va., May 25.—His strength exhausted by over-study in his dental course, his mother critically ill, about to be inducted into the National Army and nervousness as the result of loss of sleep were reasons assigned yesterday by Dr. Lemuel Johnson, Middlesex, N. C., dentist, for attempting to take his life in a Wilson, N. C., hotel several days after his wife had died in this city from the effects of poison.

Dr. Johnson showed the effects of the strain he has been under during the past ten days. He broke down several times while reciting his view of the situations preceding and subsequent to the death of his wife whom he had married three months before.

"I felt no pain," said the witness, imprecisely taking the poison in the Wilson hotel. I just began to get numb all over. The next I recall was when I woke up in a hospital.

Johnson identified the letters offered in evidence and admitted they were his writing, but denied any knowledge of having written them or knowing their contents. "I had worried until I was absent-minded," he said.

The witness was on the stand from 10 a. m. until 6 o'clock yesterday evening, and when the state rested for the night he had told of the happenings up until the time of his arrest. Johnson was visibly affected when he told of the last meeting with his wife. It was on the night of December 9, when he placed her in a taxicab at the station and bade her goodbye while he took the midnight train for Middlesex.

Relative to his letters to Miss Ollie White, Zebulon music teacher, for whose love the state expects to establish a basis for giving his wife poison, Johnson said:

"We have always been close friends since our school days. I went in her company frequently and learned to care a great deal for her, but I never asked her to marry me."

"I admit," testified Johnson, "that I made a mistake in not telling her I was married, but the way things were I had not the heart to do it."

Johnson denied he did not love his wife, or that he had been trapped into marrying her, or that he married her when she was in trouble.

BRITISH SHIP ATTACKED.

Transport With Americans Sinks While Troops Stand in Line.

London, May 25.—The British armed merchant troop ship Moldavia, with American troops on board, has been torpedoed and sunk, according to an official bulletin issued by the Admiralty. The text of the Admiralty statement follows:

"The armed merchant cruiser Moldavia was torpedoed and sunk yesterday morning.

"There were no casualties among the crew, but of the American troops on board 56, up to the present, have not been accounted for. It is feared they were killed in one compartment by the explosion."

Queenstown, May 25.—The Cork steamer Innisearre, bound from Fishguard to Cork, has been torpedoed and sunk. Thirty-seven members of the crew are missing and are supposed to have been lost. Five survivors of the disaster have been landed.

Washington, May 25.—The United States ship Wakiva, a converted yacht, was sunk in European waters in a collision on May 22 with a loss of two men.

LAUGH AT CAPTAIN'S DEATH

Submarine Now Pleased at Shell's Havoc—German Rules Grip Holland

Amsterdam, May 25.—Giving evidence before the shipping council which is inquiring into the sinking of the Dutch steamer Catharina, the mate of the vessel stated that when the submarine crew heard that one of their shots had killed the captain they laughed. The Dutch shipping inspector, presiding at the inquiry, characterized this an inexcusable. The Germans, he said, were acting with increasing brutality against small vessels. They no longer fired warning shots; indeed, he said, they shot people dead without hesitation. This, added the inspector, was beyond all endurance.

TWO TEXANS HANGED

Pay Death Penalty for Assault on Young Woman a Year Ago.

Dallas, Tex., May 25.—Leonard Dodd and Walter S. Stevenson were hanged in the county jail yard at noon yesterday for their assault on a young woman in June, 1917. Dodd, in a final effort to defeat the hanging, took poison during religious services held for the condemned men. He was discovered and prompt action of physicians prolonged his life until he paid the penalty for his crime.

Don't forget to see the remarkable picture, "Twenty Thousand Leagues Under the Sea," at the Grand Theater Thursday next.

Alexandria City and Suburbs

There was no session of the Police Court this morning.

Announcement was received today at the home of Mrs. Hillman Bayliss, near Mount Vernon, that her son, Private George H. Bayliss, who has been critically ill in the hospital at Camp Lee, is improving slowly.

The Rev. R. W. White, pastor of the Methodist Protestant Church, has returned to his home and will occupy the pulpit of that church tomorrow. He will preach a series of two sermons on "Individual Evangelism."

Services will be held at the usual hours at the Second Presbyterian church tomorrow with preaching by the pastor, Rev. Dr. John Lee Allison. The evening service will be specially devoted to the members of Post F of the Travelers' Protective Association.

The ladies' auxiliary to the Old Dominion Boat Club will give their first semi-monthly dance of this season tonight in the boat clubhouse. These dances have been most popular for the past two summers and have been given to help purchase furniture and equipment for the clubhouse, while this year a percentage of receipts will be given to the Red Cross.

Post F of the T. P. A. will attend in a body the services at the Second Presbyterian church tomorrow night conducted by Rev. John Lee Allison, D. D., chaplain of the post. This has been Post F's usual custom and the state convention at its last meeting also set aside the fourth Sunday in May as T. P. A. Sunday for the state of Virginia.

The Christian Endeavor Society will hold its regular meeting Sunday evening at 7:15. To this meeting all the Juniors of the city are cordially invited. The exercises will be especially adapted to the Junior boys and girls. There is to be an important point brought before the members of the Endeavor at the meeting and all are urged to be present.

Several months ago the police notified dealers that the sale to boys of trifles, toy guns and other dangerous playthings must cease. This action was brought about by cases which reached the Police Court in which small boys were defendants, they having injured playmates with toy guns. Yesterday a boy narrowly escaped losing his right eye on the confines of this city by a shot from a toy gun. The shot struck about half an inch under the orb, burying itself in his flesh. It was removed with difficulty. The injury was accidental upon the part of the boy who was playing with the gun. This is another warning to parents not to allow their children to amuse themselves with dangerous playthings. Recently several boys have been seen carrying toy guns on the streets of our city. Should their parents fail to act in the interests of public safety, they may be arraigned in the Police Court and held responsible for the acts of their offspring.

President Wilson today entertained the prince at luncheon at the White House.

He was a son of Mrs. Mollie Entwistle and the late William Douglas. He was born in Westmoreland county, but had lived in Alexandria since boyhood. He is survived by his mother and a brother, Simon R. Douglas, who is now stationed at Camp Lee.

Members of J. R. N. Curtin Memorial Baraca Class of the First Baptist Church are urged to be present at 9:30 tomorrow morning to say "Good-bye" to Brother E. F. LIGHTNING STUNS WOMAN.

She Is Badly Burned and Unconscious For Hours.

Harrisonburg, Va., May 25.—The electric storm which passed over the county Tuesday did a lot of damage to corn fields. The barns of Mrs. Susan Brownman, of Bridgewater, and J. W. Earmann of Massanetta Springs, were struck by lightning, both being set on fire. The fire was extinguished, however, before any great damage was done.

Mrs. David Layman, of Melrose stepped outside on the platform of her cistern during the storm and a bolt of lightning struck and passed down the piping into the cistern. Mrs. Layman was unconscious for some hours, the electricity having burned a place on her back as large as a man's hand.

At the Picture House.

"The Whispering Chorus" will be seen at the Richmond tonight, while at the Surprise the attraction will be "The Primitive Woman."

Douglas Fairbanks will appear at the Grand Theater in "The Good Bad Man," this evening, and on Monday the "Gates of Gladness" will be seen at that house.

At a called meeting of the Relief Hook and Ladder Company held last night $50 was contributed to the Red Cross. Six active members of the company have recently been summoned to the colors.

Miss Helen Norris Cummings at the recent meeting of the Women's Federation of Clubs, held in Little Rock, Ark., was chosen a national chairman of the organization. Alexandria should be proud of this distinction conferred upon one of its representative women.

Suits for divorce have been entered in the Corporation court in this city by Harry Leddon against Carrie Leddon, on the grounds of desertion, Samuel G. Brent appearing for the plaintiff, and by Charles W. Cunningham against Jennette Breckinridge Cunningham, on the same grounds, Gardner L. Boothe being attorney for plaintiff.

Lieut. Commander G. William Ramsay, of Lee Camp, Confederate Veterans, this morning called The Gazette's attention to one of the most contemptible acts of theft that could well be imagined—that of stealing flowers from the graves of the dead. It is said that a lady saw several women and boys last night carry away flowers which had been placed on the Confederate monument yesterday afternoon at the memorial service. By 9 o'clock it is stated that most of the flowers had been stolen. It seems a pity that the city contains people who will stoop so low as to be guilty of such a disgraceful thing as to deliberately steal from the soldier dead. If the names of either of the women or boys can be ascertained The Gazette will gladly bear the expense of prosecuting them to the full extent of the law. They ought to be given a sentence in the jail or workhouse if the law will so permit.

The exercises yesterday afternoon at the Confederate monument and also at the mound in Christ church yard in observance of Confederate Decoration Day, were most impressive and were presided over by John M. Johnson, a member of R. E. Lee Camp of Confederate Veterans. The Rev. Dr. J. W. Duffey, another member of the Camp, and a former pastor of the Southern Methodist church in this city, gave the invocation, while the orator of the day was the Hon. R. Walton Moore, of Fairfax, the son of a veteran. The music was by the Indian Guard band, and the choir of young girls attired in white dresses with red sashes, was under the able direction of Miss Blanche Richmond, who for several years past has been in charge of this work. The singing yesterday was greatly enjoyed by the large assemblage present. A donation of flowers from the fourth grade of the high school was greatly appreciated by the veterans, who were deeply touched by the thoughtfulness of these young people in helping keep green the memory of the Confederate soldiers to whom the monuments at Washington and Prince streets and in Christ church yard were erected. A volley was fired over the mound in Christ church yard by a squad of soldiers from Camp Humphreys.

GERMAN MUTINEERS SHOT

Thousand Imprisoned for Refusal to Go to West Front.

A German division at Dvinsk, Russia, ordered from the east to the western front, refused to proceed, and 50 men were executed and 1,000 imprisoned, said a Russian wireless dispatch yesterday to the State Department. Other German troops in the vicinity held demonstrations in favor of the division.

From the same source reports were received that the Fifty-sixth German regiment and others, en route from the east to the western front, held demonstrations against the continuation of the war.

Notice.

An examination of the returns made to the Commissioner of the Revenue, by the Local Board of Review, shows that 40 per cent of the business and professional men of this city, requiring a state license have not up to this time, complied with the law. In view of this it was resolved by the local board that unless the necessary reports are filed and proper license secured by Monday, the 27th of this month, more drastic measures will be invoked to enforce the law.

E. E. Lawler, Chairman, Local Board of Review.

OLD GUARD AT THE MONUMENT.

Eighteen of the members of the seven military companies which left the intersection of Prince and Washington streets early on the morning of May 24, 1861, were in line at that spot at the close of yesterday's participation in the annual memorial exercises. This was, however, a fair showing when it is remembered that fifty-seven years have elapsed since that memorable morn. The survivors gathered in front of the monument which bears the names of Alexandrians who offered up their lives for the Southern Confederacy. Death has naturally depleted the ranks of those who returned to their homes in 1865, until at present but a corporal's guard can be summoned at this yearly gathering.

The average number of persons assembled yesterday to witness the exercises. They were of the impressive nature in evidence on all such occasions. Times, however, have changed and men have changed with them. While the stand was decorated with a Confederate flag, the choir sang "The Star-Spangled Banner," while the audience stood with bared heads.

John M. Johnson, a former member of the Sixth Virginia Cavalry, presided, and in calling the assembly to order made a few fervid remarks which brought forth much applause. After Rev. Dr. J. W. Duffey, another ex-Confederate, had offered prayer, Hon. R. Walton Moore, son of the late Thomas Moore, another wearer of the gray, who was to deliver the oration, was introduced, although he needed no introduction to an Alexandria audience, as he often appears among us and delivers addresses, abounding in originality and thought. His brief address may be likened to an egg—it was all meat—and his many references to the part Alexandria has played in the history of the country produced much enthusiasm among his hearers.

Many strangers, young and old, were in yesterday's gathering. This class of welcome citizens have, during the past few months, come to Alexandria from every point of the compass. Italians, Greeks, Russians and others of our new population were there, and all seemed to be conscious of the fact that it was good for them to have been there, in this land of the free and the home of the brave.

WORSE THAN EPHESIAN TEMPLE-BURNING

The Gazette recently called attention to acts of certain persons which are causing no little indignation in this community. It is the practice of removing flowers from graves, placed upon the same by kind hands, generally loved ones left behind in this world of woe. The funeral of a young man took place last Sunday afternoon. A few minutes after the grave had been filled and the mound decorated with flowers a descent was made upon the latter, and every flower carried away.

The assemblage at Prince and Washington streets yesterday afternoon had departed from the scene but a few minutes when a party of boys despoiled the monument of practically all the flowers which had been placed upon it. It is said that the youngsters handed the flowers to bystanders, who made no hesitation in accepting them from the hands of the predatory youngsters.

Alexandrians contribute flowers annually for the decoration of the Confederate Monument on the 24th of May. They are intended to remain where placed until time causes them to fade—not to be gathered up immediately after the exercises by boys and distributed to their friends and acquaintances.

Such acts come under the head of larceny or defacing property, and it will be necessary, sooner or later, to make examples of the vandals.

"WORK OR FIGHT" RULE.

The burden will rest upon the registrant to secure useful employment, under Provost Marshall General as the final resting place for those Crowder's "work or fight" amendment to the Selective Service Regulations. The War Department holds that there is a sufficient number of openings in essential war industries for every person affected by the new order, and that no man will be able to substantiate a claim that he could not find a job of the nature prescribed by the Provost Marshall General.

Unofficial announcement is made from the office of the Provost Marshall General, in reply to a query of the Washington Railway and Electric Company, that men employed as motormen or conductors in Washington would be considered as engaged in essential work, when the regulation calling upon all men within the draft age for war service goes into effect July 1.

A regulation calculated to trip the slacker is that which empowers and local board to force draft registrants to work, whether it has original jurisdiction over the men or not. In other words, a man found loafing around an Alexandria pool room, though registered in Atlanta or Baltimore, can be put to work or into the army by the local board.

CRISIS IN THE CHURCH.

Rev. John A. MacCallum, of the Walnut Street Presbyterian Church, Philadelphia, scored the methods of many Protestant clergymen in an address this week at the meeting of the Clerical Brotherhood, in the Church House. Concerning denominational rivalry, Dr. MacCallum said:

"Each of the various sects places its church buildings at strategic points, considered only from its own point of view. The result is that the city is divided into a series of overlapping parishes. There is a Presbyterian, a Protestant Episcopal, a Lutheran, a Congregational, a Methodist and Baptist map, each covering the entire city, and ignoring all the others, to say nothing of minor sects which are more or less local in their influence. The result is obvious. There is a steady rivalry between the different groups. Yet there is always the vast unchurched community in the background, there are the immigrants waiting in multitudes to be amalgamated.

"But it is not to these that the local church turns to fill its depleted ranks. It seeks, rather, to eat up its neighbors if it can. The wealthier churches call the most attractive preacher they can command and hire the best singers and performers and advertise through the community that they have done so. They satisfy themselves with the reflection that in adopting commercial methods they are seeking the unchurched, but as a matter of fact they do not care where the congregation comes from."

Dr. MacCallum deplored the division of the Christian church, but said the hope of a union of the great Protestant bodies was only theoretical, because of the unwillingness of any one sect to lose its individuality. Sectarianism, however, he said, was a dead issue.

The speaker deplored the scarcity of young men to study for the ministry. "The easy, popular explanation of this hesitation," he said, "is that it offers no financial prizes. The weakness of the church lies in the meagerness of its motive. Young men of vision shrink from entering a sphere of action where much of their energy will be spent in humiliating competition in ringing doorbells with less imaginative and equally fleet-footed rivals.

PURPOSE OF WAR.

According to the Volkszeitung of Cologne, Emperor William, speaking at the graves of German soldiers buried at Aix-la-Chapelle, said:

"The soldier who has struggled through the iron time of the world war will be a teacher and leader of the growing youths at home in building up and consolidating the reborn empire."

As the New York Sun says, in the long list of speeches by the kaiser for the extension of imperialism and the glorification of Hohenzollernism none could more clearly define his ideals for the future of Germany than this utterance.

The "building up and consolidating" of this congeries of people crushed beneath the might of Prussian arms he entrusts to "the growing youths at home."

The "reborn empire" is the empire which he sees in his imagination marked out by the German sword, an empire pieced out by a slice of Belgium which he had ruthlessly burned and destroyed, a bit of France his armies had devastated, a territory won by threats and trickery from a supposedly helpless Russia a collection of subservient vanquished lands and a great vassal state cunningly erected from the nations of his allies who had cast their fortunes with him in the war.

At Gettysburg Abraham Lincoln, in dedicating a portion of the battlefield under Provost Marshall General as the final resting place for those who gave their lives that the nation might live," said:

"It is rather for us to be here dedicated to the great task remaining before us; that from these honored dead we take increased devotion to that cause for which they here gave the last full measure of devotion that we here highly resolve that the dead shall not have died in vain; that the nation shall, under God, have a new birth in freedom, and that the government of the people, by the people, for the people, shall not perish from the earth."

Could two utterances made under such similar circumstances more completely define the differences between the aims in this war?

KAISER HESITATED

German prisoners assert that Emperor William hesitated a long time before starting the offensive this year, but that Gen. Ludendorff obtained the upper hand by promising to force a peace by beating the allies by Easter. The crown prince, with the military caste in Germany, they say, succeeded in ejecting Rudolph von Valentini from power after he had predicted a catastrophe for the German arms.

During the later stages of the present war Emperor William has been endeavoring to wash from his hands the blood which has been shed upon the field of battle and the terrible distress which has been brought upon Germany and the world at large. Attempts have been made to prove that he is not responsible for the war and that he was averse to breaking relations with the United States. Endeavors to place the responsibility upon German Junkers are now becoming more frequent.

SAVES GETTING OUT OF BED

An automatic device which takes care of the windows of a house or apartment and closes them when it begins to rain has been perfected by a Philadelphia man.

It is quite automatic and its action is said to be positive. In his device a loop lever, connected with a stationary rod attached as a permanent fixture to the lower corner of the upper window sash, is held in position by a narrow strip of blotting paper.

So long as the paper is dry it is rigid enough to hold the delicately adjusted lever, but a single drop of rain will soon soften the paper that it allows the loop of the lever to fall, and thus to release the pressure of the lever against the lower sash. Since the sash is weighted with a bag of sand or small shot, it will drop and close the window against the rain—Popular Science Monthly.

Resolutions by Local No. 99 of the steam and operating engineers of the District of Columbia, affiliated with the International Steam and Operating Engineers' Union of North America, endorsing Honorable Charles C. Carlin for re-election to Congress from the Eighth Congressional district of Virginia:

Whereas, Honorable Charles C. Carlin has manifested a deep interest in the workmen of his district, state and the country ever since his election to Congress and has shown a sincere interest in their welfare by his voice and vote, and

Whereas his record as an advocate of the peoples rights is second to none among his colleagues in Congress, and

Whereas the people of his district, the state of Virginia, and the country realize the need of men of the Carlin stamp in every branch of the government, particularly the legislative halls of Congress, to steer the country safely and surely during this world war, so "that this government of the people and by the people shall not perish from the earth," and

Whereas the members of Local No

99 of the Steam and Operating Engineers of the District of Columbia, affiliated with the International Union of Steam and Operating Engineers of North America, recognize in Honorable Charles C. Carlin a man of the proper type to represent his district in Congress, and

Whereas he has been a special friend, assisting at all times the efforts of the membership of Local No. 99 of the Steam and Operating Engineers of the District of Columbia to maintain the high standard in the trade and a decent living wage for engineers, and

Whereas the membership of Local No. 99 of the Steam and Operating Engineers of the District of Columbia would be bankrupt of gratitude and unmindful of its duty if it did not give some expression of confidence and gratitude to Honorable Charles C. Carlin at this time for his great work in behalf of organized labor and particularly the engineers union, and

Whereas Honorable Charles C. Carlin is a candidate for re-election from the Eighth Congressional district of Virginia to succeed himself in Congress where he has served with such conspicuous ability and fidelity to his state and his country.

Therefore, be it resolved, That Local No. 99 of the Steam and Operating Engineers of the District of Columbia, affiliated with the International Steam and Operating Engineers Union of North America, in meeting assembled, on the 10th day of May, 1918, do endorse the candidacy of Honorable Charles C. Carlin for re-election to Congress from the Eighth Congressional district and urge that the workmen of his district, particularly the organized Steam and Operating Engineers, to work and vote to the end that Congressman Carlin be re-elected.

Therefore, be it further resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of our meeting, that copies be given to the Labor Press of the United States, and that a copy be sent to Congressman Carlin and that he be requested to circulate the same in his district as the expression of the Local No. 99 of the Steam and Operating Engineers of the District of Columbia, affiliated with the International Steam and Operating Engineers Union of North America.

CONSTIPATION

And Sour Stomach Caused This Lady Much Suffering. Black-Draught Relieved.

Meadowville, Ky.—Mrs. Pearl Patrick of this place, writes: "I was very constipated. I had sour stomach and was so uncomfortable. I went to the doctor. He gave me some pills. They weakened me and seemed to tear up my digestion. They would gripe me and afterwards it seemed I was more constipated than before."

I heard of Black-Draught and decided to try it. I found it just what I needed. It was an easy laxative, and not bad to swallow. My digestion soon improved. I got well of the sour stomach, my bowels soon seemed normal, no more griping, and I would take a dose now and then, and was in good shape."

I cannot say too much for Black-Draught for it is the finest laxative one can use."

Theodore's Black-Draught has for many years been found of great value in the treatment of stomach, liver and bowel troubles. Easy to take, gentle and reliable in its action, leaving no bad after-effects. It has won the praise of thousands of people who have used it.

NO. 1

and they are going to get scarcer.

You can't make war without getting hurt and, when you get hurt, you want a doctor and you want him mighty bad.

That means that a lot of our doctors will be needed in France and a lot more of them will be needed in this country too, for the wounded boys, who come back.

But you can't manufacture doctors like you can rifles.

Practically, the ones we now have are all we can get; so we have got to make the present supply go further.

Doctors do wonderful things, but, after all, they're just human. They can't get more than twenty four hours in their day.

If your baby gets sick, the doctor can not see it and a wounded soldier at the same time.

Give the doctor a chance, he's just as patriotic as you are.

Keep the baby well and let the doctor have more time for the soldiers.

It's so easy to do too.

Featherstone milk keeps babies well.

Better Cooking by Electricity

Women have long known that electric cooking is cleaner, that it banishes all the dust and ashes of coal and wood and soot and fumes of gas. They have known that it makes the kitchen cooler; the air purer; that is the most convenient way to cook. Now they have the word of the women who stand for the most scientific cooking methods known, that electric cooking produces better results than any other means.

Let us demonstrate the various sizes of ranges and refer you to the satisfied electric range users.

HIS JOB TO BANDAGE WOUNDED HOUSES

American Boss Carpenter Putting French Villages Back on the Map.

It was a monotonous stretch of ugly trench, wire entanglements, gaping shell holes, accented by the blackened skeleton of shell killed forests silhouetted against a dull, hopeless sky.

This had once been beautiful rolling land like our own Ohio and Indiana—rich in grain fields, orchards and gardens. Now it was desolation—nothing could live there—seemingly nothing did.

We had come on some rising ground, and as we climbed we reached the brow of the slope, and of a sudden it seemed that some giant had suddenly twisted the old world under our feet and we were back home, for of a sudden the sounds of life came up to us out of a bustling center of industry. That satisfying clug of an honest hammer head sinking willing nail into sound wood, and before us was a panorama of new building, with piles of clean lumber stacked here and there, and the framing of many new buildings told where the wood was going. Then we heard the voice of a man, who talked real "United States"—telling 27 other carpenters what to do—out in this foreign land thousands of miles from home.

We inquired of the boss as to who he was, and with true sense of humor he said: "I am a Red Cross nurse. My job is bandaging wounded houses."

Putting Villages Back on Map. "This was once a French village," he went on to say, "in the center of the sugar beet country. We are living now on the site of the sugar mill," he said, pointing to a long, low barracks, which plainly had been recently built. "We are working for the American Red Cross—putting villages back on the map. In four more weeks we'll be out of here and on our way to the next town, for there are many villages that need us. We go from place to place, always finding that our lumber has reached there first, so we can get right to work, clean up and move on again."

It is just like pioneering, this rebuilding work of our Red Cross—only more important—more important because it is vital to the winning of the war that these people come back to their soil and plant new crops—for future years of war or peace.

And so the tide of war sweeps back from whence it came, a Red Cross army follows close behind in uniforms of overalls, armed with Yankee hammers and nails to coax back the foundlings that have been brushed into squalid helplessness in the south and east.

They are coming back home now, just a few days behind these carpenters—back to the beet fields, the gardens and the farms. Soon they will be feeding themselves and thousands of others.

WHITE PLAGUE KILLS MORE MEN THAN BULLETS

It seems longer, but it was less than four years ago that the nation had not yet started in to wipe each other off the map and that the only times when one heard of the Red Cross were times of flood or disaster and at Christmas time, when the peaceful little Red Cross tuberculosis seals made their annual appearance.

Perhaps, in fact, it was the long, ardent fight in America against the White Plague which, in spite of the war's enormous new demands, is responsible for the especial interest being taken by the American Red Cross in France's frightful struggle against consumption. This scourge seems to mark the trench fighter for its own. It kills more men than do bullets and poison gas combined. Until the American Red Cross was permitted by the French government to start its drive against tuberculosis it looked as if, even with a victory over the Hun, France might eventually be conquered by this deadly foe.

Already things are looking brighter. The Red Cross has taken over old hospitals and built new ones. More than 800 tuberculosis dispensaries are to be opened throughout the country, and Red Cross doctors and nurses—scores of them—are devoting themselves exclusively to this fight, doing over there exactly the same kind of work which is unrolled in America by the little Christmas seals. It is one of the ways in which by our contributions to the Red Cross America has made her debt to France.

GERMAN AGENTS ACTIVE

Tell Negroes at South Carolina Camps They are to be Used as Breastworks for Whites.

Greenville, S. C., May 25.—That negroes in the army are being used at the front in France as breastworks for white American soldiers and other similar stories are being told negroes of this section by German agents in the effort to induce them to revolt, according to a statement issued by the United States District Attorney, who stated that many reports had been received of the activities of German propagandists in his district.

We're Coming!

We are coming, Mother England, we are coming millions strong; Hands across the sea are reaching, gripped to rid the world of wrong.

We are coming, stricken Belgium, there with you to face the foe, Pledged to make the haughty Prussian pay in full for all your woe.

We are coming, France, our sister, the glorious and fair, By your side we'll soon be fighting in the trenches, in the air; And the Hun shall feel the power of the men from o'er the sea, We are coming and are swearing that this whole world shall be free.

We are coming, fair Italia, land from which Columbus came, We, Columbia's sons, are coming, coming in Columbia's name, Now to raise our starry banner where a Caesar wore a crown, Knowing that when once we raise it, naught on earth shall tear it down.

We are coming, German Kaiser; call your hosts from hill and plain, Mass your men and mass your cannon, but your work will be in vain.

We are coming, German Kaiser, and our coming sounds the knell Of your boasted German Kultur that has made on earth a hell.

We are coming, men of Europe, we are coming millions strong, There to stay and ne'er to falter, though the fight be hard and long, "To the end" shall be our slogan, for the world it SHALL be free, And the evil power of despots crushed at last on land and sea.

Hohenzollerns, Hapsburgs, hearken to the fast approaching beat Of the footsteps of a nation that has never known defeat.

Clad in armor of the righteous, caring naught for German might, We are coming, we are coming, there to win or die for right.

—Judge Stephen C. Bragaw.

FORD CAR BRINGS A SHOWER BATH EVERY AFTERNOON

Babies Grow Whiter as Doctor and Nurse Serve Daily Baths From Door to Door.

"Good morning. We have come to give the children their bath," this, of course, said in good French. Then from off the motor car slides a portable shower bath, carried into the house by doctor and nurse.

For the next half hour that little cottage boasts of a bathroom in active service, for when the water is heated the blessing of a warm, clean shower pumped by the doctor falls on the head of Young France, while the nurse scrubs religiously and the darkening water bears witness of a whiter, clearer child.

And as you might well imagine, the kiddies like it, except the last cold dash that the doctor slyly engineers by quickly transferring the supply pipe into a bucket of cold water—for hygienic effect.

And what a blessing it is to these meek, tortured people, who for months have been without all of life's comforts and most of life's necessities, to be ministered to in this fashion. It is perhaps understandable to them that "les Americans" out of sheer pity might offer them that meager thing that civilization calls "charity." But to be clothed, fed, sheltered and cheered as they have been by our Red Cross is more than they can understand.

For they have seen a great miracle grow out of the darkest pit of human experience. They have seen a bright light out of which has stepped the ministering angel who has taught them to smile, again. They are no longer sick. They are no longer cold nor hungry, and now, wonder of wonders, this same good friend has contrived in some magic way—within the sound of the guns—to give them—baths.
